

Little Cinderella

© Clayton Saunders 2020

Love watching my 5 year old skipping across the lawn
In her beautiful white satin Cinderella dress
Wobbling on her toy glass high heel slippers
Telling her imaginary friends she's a fairy princess

She squeals with laughter as I drop on all fours
Start chasing her down our bluestone driveway
Jumps on my back and yells giddyup daddy
You know I'm going to the Princes ball today

Little Cinderella, innocent as a rose

Little Cinderella, with her cute little button nose

Smile to myself coz' I'm one lucky fella

To be the daddy of Little Cinderella

I know someday her Prince will come
And charm his way into her precious heart
How can I expect some stranger to understand
This father/daughter bond is strongest when apart

Little Cinderella, innocent as a rose

Little Cinderella, with her cute little button nose

Smile to myself coz' I'm one lucky fella

To be the daddy of Little Cinderella

I'll make sure he's good to you

You'll never want for anything

A house, a car, dog or cat

Little Cinderella, beautiful as a rose

Little Cinderella, with her cute little button nose

Smile to myself coz' no matter who the fella

I'll always be the daddy of little Cinderella

Yes I'm one lucky fella

To be the proud daddy of Little Cinderella