

The Silverline - Cowboys and Dreamers
(Written by A Caswell / M Lehn)

Cowboys and dreamers
Horse thieves and dealers
They can drag you through hell
From the very first kiss
Momma'd tell me to run
She'd say "he ain't the one"
Not one of those boys is a keeper
But I still fall for cowboys and dreamers

Cowboys and dreamers
Smiling deceivers
They can sell you the dream
While they're breaking your heart
This won't be the last time
You'll fall for the same line
He might want her that don't mean he'll keep her
But I still fall for cowboys and dreamers

I've still got this thing for the bad boy
Still drawn to the one's Momma warned me about
Guess I always knew from that heartbreak tattoo
She had put on when Daddy left town

Solo

I've still got this thing for the bad boy
Still drawn to the one's Momma warned me about
Guess I always knew from the heartbreak tattoo
She had put on when Daddy left town

Cowboys and dreamers
Horse thieves and dealers
They can drag you through hell
From the very first kiss
Momma'd tell me to run
She'd say "he ain't the one"
Not one of those boys is a keeper
But I still fall for cowboys and dreamers