Jason Mark – Listening To Country Music On The Radio

“Listening to Country Music” was inspired from memories of time spent in the back shed listening to the radio playing country classics.

Favourite shows like Saturday Night Country and the Country Music Countdown always gave me plenty of songs to sing along with.

This song captures those moments reflects an aspect of Australian life whether on farms or in backyards right across this great country.

I hope this song connects with people who like to sing along with the chorus as well as those who find joy in the simple act of listening to country music.

Jason Mark is an Australian country music singer whose classic country sound capture his life experiences and celebrate the stories and characters that make Australia truly unique.
